Information about this course:

'The Art of Leadership' is a program created by NSW Principals, for Principals and other school leaders. The NSWPPA is proud to present this high quality program because we know that school leaders need a very practical, interactive program that addresses the skills, processes and knowledge needed to lead a successful school.

It is an experiential program in which participants practise the skills learned and begin to apply these in their own workplace context during the period of the course. The six days of the course are divided into two 3-day intensive phases where the knowledge and skills are acquired, separated by a workplace practice period in which participants can apply these in their own context.

Since 2013, there have been 38 'Art of Leadership' programs, held in venues across NSW. During this time more than 800 school leaders, from primary schools, special schools and high schools have attended the program.

What participants have said about this program:

- "It has been a life-changing course for me, bringing everything together cohesively as a guide for leading and living"
- "I cannot emphasise enough what impact this course has had on my leadership style, interactions with people; my confidence, and my ability to lead and manage teams....the list and benefits are endless."
- "I would rate this program as the most worthwhile professional learning I have ever participated in. Every leader should have the opportunity to engage in this program because as educators, our core business is people and the skills needed to work with them. I believe this course is an excellent way to prepare teachers for leadership and develop the leadership skills of current principals."
- "Since completing AOL, re-assessing strategic and systematic processes within my busy school environment has enabled me to change the manner in which I work with others. I have been able to be calmer, and step away from the emotional interchange or discussion and view issues more clearly"
